BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA®

Cub Scouting

Cub Scouting activities involve the parents, adult leaders, and friends of Cub Scouts in home-centered programs that teach life skills, habits, values, and attitudes consistent with the interests of their faith. Millions of boys and their families participate in Cub Scouting, the largest of the three Boy Scouts of America membership programs. Cub Scout activities encourage character development, physical coordination, family unity, and enthusiasm for learning.

Venturing

Venturing is an effective young-adult program designed to improve character, citizenship, and fitness. Venturers exercise leadership, citizenship, fitness, social, outdoor, and community service endeavors. Venturing provides a variety of challenging activities to teach young people ages 14 through 20, or 13 with completion of the eighth grade, the real-world meaning of values, ethical decision making, and life skills. Venturing teaches leadership and problem-solving skills to help youths mature into confident, successful adults. Venturing crews organize around a special interest of the youth members, such as sports, arts, outdoors, or careers. Separate crews may be organized for young men and women. The specialty clusters include outdoors, sports, arts and hobbies, youth ministry, and Sea Scouting.

Scouting Builds Character

The Boy Scouts of America is delivering a message to youth, our Scouting parents, and the general public that morals, values, spirituality, manners, ethics, caring, respect, and duty are as important today as ever. We are committed to our mission of providing a program of ethical values for young people.

There may never be a more important time than now to let the country know that Scouting still believes in America's young people and its traditional family values, and they are worth the investment of both time and money.

Boy Scouting

Boy Scouting encourages young men to develop physical, mental, and emotional fitness, and to adopt and live by meaningful personal standards as a cornerstone for success in life. These values include the basic principles in the Scout Oath and Scout Law. Activities include fitness and leadership training, wilderness adventures, and merit badge incentives for boys to develop hobby, life, and career skills.

Mission Statement of the Boy Scouts of America

The mission of the Boy Scouts of America is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetimes by instilling in them the values of the Scout Oath and Scout Law.
